I, Addie Perkins #1957 of lawful age and being first duly sworn on oath, depose and state:

Your Affiant is a Detective with the Wichita Police Department and in that capacity was assigned the investigation of Wichita Police Department Case 25CS01259. The incidents occurred in Wichita, Sedgwick County, Kansas. After the investigation, your Affiant has learned the following information from Detective VanDerMolen:

On March 19, 2021, the Kansas Department of Children and Families received an anonymous report alleging that then 11-year-old [REDACTED] had been inappropriately touching the 4-year-old [REDACTED]. This case was assigned to Shawn P. McMahon who was a detective assigned to the Exploited and Missing Children's Unit (EMCU).

On March 27, 2021, Shawn P. McMahon and DCF Investigator Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston) conducted an interview with [REDACTED] when she was brought to the Child Advocacy Center by her mother, Adriana [REDACTED]. During her interview, [REDACTED] identified body parts by using the body diagrams that Lexi had provided. According to Shawn's written report, [REDACTED] "is a bright, happy little girl who knew her birth date, and articulated very well. She was able to identify body parts on a diagram and could differentiate the diagrams from either a boy or a girl. She was also able to describe the three locations on the girl and the two locations on a boy that people are not supposed to look at or touch."

As the interview continued, [REDACTED] said that she would stay at her grandmother, "Kika's," house when her mother went to work. She said that [REDACTED] is her uncle and that "Kika" calls [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] reported that when she is in [REDACTED] room, he touches her "pee pee" or "no-no" every day. She said she would have her clothes on but that he would reach under her clothes and move his hand around, telling her he needed to "fix her underwear."

At the end of the interview, Lexi asked [REDACTED] how safe she felt at Kika's house. She said she felt safe there, but she did not feel safe around [REDACTED].

After interviewing [REDACTED], Lexi and McMahon interviewed Adriana, who said that she was getting [REDACTED] ready for the day when [REDACTED] told Adriana that [REDACTED] had tickled her on her "choninos," which Adriana said was her underwear. Adriana said she told [REDACTED] father about what happened, and they confronted the family about the allegations. Adriana said [REDACTED] denied the allegations and said he only touched [REDACTED] underwear when her pants were falling, and he helped her.

DCF Investigator Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston) completed a report that was titled "Case Findings," in which she noted that "on May 27, 2021, CPS Vrana and Det. McMahon spoke with the alleged victim [REDACTED] said that [REDACTED] touched her ?no-no spot? With his hand. [REDACTED] said that [REDACTED] hands were moving outside of her ?PPP? and said there is no other times [REDACTED] or anyone else has touched her on her body...said she was laying down on the bed and [REDACTED] was standing up but that she was clothed and that his hands were under her underwear."

McMahon created an investigative report dated June 1, 2021, regarding his involvement in this case. In the report, McMahon noted that [REDACTED] said, "she need help fixing her shorts after leaving the bathroom and that [REDACTED] helped her. Lexi asked more specific questions and where he touched her. She stated he fixed her shorts and he touched her butt. [REDACTED] never made any mention about being tickled by [REDACTED]"

On March 10, 2022, DCF Investigator Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston) inquired with McMahon about the status of this case, and he told her that there would be no criminal charges filed in this case because it was being absorbed into the 2018 case against [REDACTED]

On November 18, 2024, at 0952 hours, McMahon submitted a Lack Of Prosecution (LOP) request to the Sedgwick County District Attorney's Office for this case. Detectives or investigators can submit a case for LOP or for the District Attorney's Office to decline charges when the detective believes there is not sufficient evidence to prove a crime beyond a reasonable doubt. In the request for this case, McMahon wrote in the summary, "interview completed with victim who stated suspected toucher her, fully clothed on her buttocks when suspect was helping her get dressed. DCF determined the accusation was unsubstantiated." The Assistant District Attorney who reviewed this request asked McMahon to provide additional information. He provided the attorney with a copy of his Investigative Report in which he wrote, "she need help fixing her shorts after leaving the bathroom and that [REDACTED] helped her. Lexi asked more specific questions and where he touched her. She stated he fixed her shorts and he touched her butt. [REDACTED] never made any mention about being tickled by [REDACTED]"

McMahon provided inaccurate information to the District Attorney's office regarding this case. He provided inaccurate information to DCF Investigator Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston) about the status of this case as well. This case was reinvestigated by Detective B. Pearce, who noted that after speaking with the District Attorney's Office, he was informed that this case would likely have been charged based on the facts of the case if it had been presented promptly.

As part of this investigation, Detective VanDerMolen reviewed the reports and documentation completed by McMahon and DCF Investigator Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston). During the investigation, Detective VanDerMolen found that McMahon created a Kansas Standard Offense Report through the Sedgwick County Sheriff's Office dated May 27, 2021, regarding this incident. In the body of the report, McMahon wrote, "[ALV] Alleged victim stated Kika, calls [REDACTED] [ALV] Alleged victim states [REDACTED] touched her in her 'no-no square' or her pee-pee as described in the diagram, multiples on multiple occasions. She described the touching as [REDACTED] tickling her underneath her underwear when they would play hide-and-seek in the residence. [ALV] Alleged victim states [REDACTED] told her not to tell anyone."

Detective VanDerMolen reviewed McMahon's interview notes that were dated May 27th. The notes indicated that it was an interview with [REDACTED] with DCF Investigator Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston). In the notes, McMahon wrote that "[REDACTED] touched no no spot w/ hand..." Said fixing underwear'...everyday...hand under...'outside of pee pee." Detective VanDerMolen reviewed the video and audio recording of the interview with [REDACTED] and noted that McMahon was present during the entire interview with [REDACTED] and Lexi.

On March 14, 2025, Detective VanDerMolen spoke with Lexandria Johnston, (a/k/a Lexi Vrana) with DCF about this report. Pertaining to this case, Lexandria said she asked McMahon for an update on this case, and she created a document on March 10, 2022, where McMahon told her that there would be no criminal charges in this case because it was being absorbed into the pending case against [REDACTED]. Because McMahon told her this case was being absorbed, Lexandria closed her DCF case as "unsubstantiated" because it was being handled through other means.

Lexandria (a/k/a Lexi) said she believed the victim was telling the truth about what occurred, and that the child had made disclosures about inappropriate touching. She said that with the past patterns of the offender, she believed that it was likely that the incident occurred as the victim described.

On March 20, 2025, Detective VanDerMolen met with Andrea Nelson-Bakker from the Sedgwick County District Attorney's Office. Andrea informed him that she routinely reviewed cases for EMCU detectives for LOP. She said she had worked in that capacity for approximately eighteen (18) months when she received twelve (12) LOP cases from McMahon in November 2024. Andrea said she did not know who McMahon was because she had not seen any of his other cases, and she thought he was a new detective in the unit.

As they were discussing this case, Andrea said it was presented by McMahon in November 2024 as an LOP. She said it was a part of the barrage of cases he was LOP'ing at the time, and the report had limited information. Andrea sent McMahon an email asking for additional information, and on November 18, 2024, he provided her with his supplemental investigative report that indicated the victim did not make a disclosure; therefore, the case was LOP'd.

Detective VanDerMolen reviewed the LOP sheet that McMahon provided to Andrea on November 18, 2024, as well as the supplemental report. McMahon's LOP sheet said in the summary of events, "interview completed with victim who stated suspect touched her, fully clothed on her buttocks when suspect was helping her get dressed. DCF determined the accusation was unsubstantiated." In response to Andrea's email requesting more information, McMahon provided a document titled "Investigative Report" dated June 1, 2021. The report stated, "Lexi asked if [REDACTED] ever touched her and she replied 'yes.' Lexi asked more detailed questions regarding the touching. She stated that she need help fixing her shorts after leaving the bathroom and that [REDACTED] helped her. Lexi asked more specific questions and where he touched her. She stated he fixed her shorts and he touched her butt. [REDACTED] never made any mention about being tickled by [REDACTED] Lexi and I discussed the case further and concluded that there was not enough evidence (no disclosure by [REDACTED] to continue criminally." These statements were in direct conflict to what was described and stated during her interview with Lexi and McMahon.

Andrea noted that if she had been provided with accurate information from McMahon, she would have likely sent the case back to be reviewed by a charging attorney to be reviewed for potential charges. Furthermore, Andrea said she was provided with an affidavit from Detective Pearce, who completed the re-investigation into this case, and based on that information, she never would have agreed to LOP this case.

Detective VanDerMolen then spoke to Nic Means from the Sedgwick County District Attorney's Office about the 2018 pending case against [REDACTED]. Nic said he was familiar with the case but said he did not recall agreeing to dismiss the 2021 case as part of the 2018 case. He said if he had made the deal, it would have been a part of the plea agreement and recorded in the criminal case.

Nic said he reviewed the 2018 criminal case and the two plea agreements that were entered into the case, but none of them discussed the 2021 case. He also looked through his case notes, and there were no notes about the 2021 case either. Nic was able to find an email from McMahon about the 2021 case on May 27, 2021, and McMahon told Nic, "the victim (alleged) is [REDACTED] niece, who disclosed today that [REDACTED] tickled her no-no square." This occurred late last year while the niece was living in the residence with [REDACTED]. I was not sure if you want to tie this to the current case or have a new case cut for the allegations. I have not created a new case number as of yet." Nic responded via email to McMahon on May 28, 2021, and told him, "I'm out of today so I don't have my file. Same victim as the current case? I'm guessing not. I would treat it as a new case." Nic said he did not have any further communication with McMahon about this case.

On June 26, 2025, Detective VanDerMolen reviewed the entire video recorded interview that McMahon and Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston) conducted with [REDACTED] while at the Child Advocacy Center. During the interview, Lexi took the lead in the interview and McMahon took notes and was present during the interview. [REDACTED] told Lexi and McMahon that [REDACTED] or [REDACTED] touched her "no-no square" and that he was Kika's son. She said he touched her with his hand and his hand was still while he touched her. Lexi asked [REDACTED] where her "no-no spot" was, and [REDACTED] pointed to her the part of the body diagram that she identified as her "pee-pee." [REDACTED] said her clothes were on but he touched her under her clothes and under her underwear.

On June 26, 2025, Detective VanDerMolen contacted Detective T. Marshall #D2114 with the Sedgwick County Sheriff's Office about the investigative report McMahon completed regarding 21S004507. Detective Marshall was able to provide Detective VanDerMolen with a document titled "Case Management Tracking" which documented the action taken on that case. This case was assigned to McMahon on June 1, 2021, and was "received" by McMahon on June 3, 2021. McMahon created an entry in the case on November 22, 2024, that said, "conducting interviews 5/20/21 w/ Lexi Vrana Interview with victim [REDACTED] and mother, Andriana. Mother reports over hearing suspect and uncle talking about touching kids. Victim gave no disclosure in interview. Lexi determined there was not enough to substantiate the claims." These statements are a direct conflict with the interview that McMahon and Lexi Vrana (a/k/a Lexandria Johnston) conducted with the victim.
